

HAPPY, a fun, cheerful and colorful kilim

A design by Sandra Figuerola for GAN

GAN's kilim collection expands with a new creation by Sandra Figuerola, a regular contributor to the brand. The strong graphic character of HAPPY denotes the designer's taste for geometric patterns, as well as her expressive mastery of color.

Starring one of the most recurring shapes of Figuerola's career in collaboration with GAN –the rhombus–, HAPPY gives life to a game of transparencies through oblique bands that seem to intertwine. Neutral and luminous colors take turns with more intense and cheerful ones, which fade in other shades and generate a sense of depth.

HAPPY is handmade in India following the ancestral kilim technique and using virgin wool. This craftsmanship achieves not only a high definition of the drawing, but a totally flat and reversible piece, as light as resistant and suitable for any type of indoor stay and time of year.

"My colorful and eclectic profile says thanks to the wide surfaces where you can express yourself without excessive technical complexities. A rug is like a big canvas, and I love painting on it!" says Figuerola.

Available in two sizes (170 x 240 cm / 5'7" x 7'11" and 200 x 300cm / 6'7" x 9'10"), HAPPY fills the space with dynamism and visual effects thanks to its vibrant pattern and a rich color palette. According to its creator, this kilim can work either by animating sober contemporary spaces with its symmetrical and repetitive drawing, or by integrating into bold environments in which dominates a risky mix of styles.
