The third twin

MUT Design

It is said that all good things come in threes and so the Twins family grows this year with the addition of a coquettish two-seater sofa, a loveseat in a very real sense. Because its compactness and small scale, it is perfect for reduced spaces or cozy environments.

The loveseat, just like the two original armchairs before, looks casual, but elegant, extremely contemporary and exquisitely finished. Equally concerned for aesthetics and functionality, it thus becomes a holistic design granting further resistance and comfort thanks to high quality materials.

Its upholstery in Omega™ Outdoor, a 3D mesh specifically developed by the Danish company Gabriel for Expormim, stretches beautifully upon the aluminum frame creating attractive visual effects. It is again a collection wholly suitable for outdoor, although its gentle lines and soothing colour palette allow for an easy and natural adaptation to interiors.

This season also brings a new accessory to complete the best-selling collection created by MUT Design in 2015: the footstool, which is possible to combine with the armchairs and the sofa. Small and discreet, it is a piece emphasizing the practical aspect of the collection: the search for ultimate comfort. With it the Twins family grows stronger.
