Many stories to tell

Manufacturers since 1935

The managerial group Ezpeleta was established in 1935 in Oñati (Guipúzcoa) where it started activity as a rain umbrella factory.

In 1952, looking to expand, members of the second generation of the family moved to Vigo where new production facilities were launched. Ezpeleta is now a 100% family owned group of companies.

In 1988, the third generation inaugurated what is today the group's main factory in Vila Nova de Cerveira, Portugal.

Ezpeleta is now a 100% family owned group of companies.

In Oñati, umbrellas continue to be manufactured with the same passion as before, but the company has grown both in terms of facilities and product range.

Sustainable innovation

Our proactive search for sustainable terrace solutions has led us to develop pioneering projects that promote the circular economy such as our parasol

Eolo Pureti

reddot design award

Eolo Pureti has been awarded the Red Dot Award 2020 in the product design category. It won the Product Innovation Award at the Horeca New Business Models Awards 2020 and the first Nestlé Sustainability Award, and the IF 2022.

Environmental consciousness, smooth aesthetics and good performance come together in Ezpeleta's EOLO parasol.

Much like trees, the fabric of this parasol reduces air pollution, neutralizing engine gases and other harmful substances. It features a disruptive photocatalytic nanotechnology manufactured by the American company Pureti, which signed an agreement with Ezpeleta for the development of these innovative parasols.

Our commitment

Most of the raw materials we use come from recycled materials. In addition, all the polypropylene in our chairs, tables and parasols is 100% recyclable.

We work every day in our manufacturing process through a plan to reduce emissions and consumption of natural resources.
